

Jr. Eagles Conflict Commitment

The Colorado

Jr. Eagles recognizes that the club hockey season can create conflicts for participants especially the Midget Major and Minor age players. As a result, the Jr. Eagles will strive to create the least amount of conflict for all participants.

We believe that we can work with any athlete to make the hockey experience as worthwhile as possible while still allowing the athlete participate in other fall sports, high school hockey and spring sports that conflict with the hockey season. We do not want any athlete to not play hockey because of fear of conflicts. We will work with any athlete on a case by case basis to ensure the athlete can play other sports along with hockey.
